To Whom It May Concern:

It is our great pleasure to recommend George Maxson for all your painting needs. Several months ago he painted our house in Thousand Oaks and the work, in every way, was simply superior. It was a big job and one fraught with difficulties. Our house is all wood and two story, and there are many gables, eaves, exposed beams, and porches. The job was not only labor intensive but also required special bleaches and paints. The wood had to be restored to original before the first drop of primer could be applied. It was an enormous task and presented problems that no one could have anticipated. Nonetheless, everything was worked out to our mutual satisfaction.

This, I think, is the real test of a contractor: how well does he perform when problems arise. George Maxson responded with professionalism and integrity. I might mention that we, ourselves, built the house many years ago, acting as the general contractor. We are all too familiar in working with subcontractors and can say George is not only the best painting contractor we have ever dealt with but among the best contractors over all.

A very close friend of ours, Jeff Campbell, who worked 30 years as a general contractor and built homes for several wealthy clients, including Arnold Schwarzenegger, inspected our house from top to bottom and announced that the job done by George Maxson was among the best he had ever seen. Jeff is a stickler for detail and demands superior workmanship. If there is a flaw, his keen eye will spot it. He searched in vain on our house.

I might add that George is just a great guy. This must rub off because his crews were always polite, arrived on time, tried their best to not inconvenience us, worked efficiently, and cleaned up thoroughly each day. Making their job tougher were our three Jack Russell terriers!

We invite anyone interested in retaining Maxson Painting to call or email us.

Sincerely,

Roger and Susan McGrath
